DEDICATION

To the memory of our classmates, John Moore, Jr. and Richard George Hoburn, who started their high school careers with us, but whose work was cut short by a fatal tragedy, we dedicate the 1955 EAGLET.

There is little we can say or do in the face of that catastrophe, but we wish this page to be an outward symbol of a strong and lingering affection for our friends.

The way football plays are born.
Nice while it lasted.

Are you sure it's all right, Mother?
Interesting combination.

THESE ARE OUR

Tales

Our days in Somerset High remain as a permanent record long after we are gone. In the few short but memorable years we have spent in these halls, we have tried to practice the ideals, principles, and customs that will become a legend to the future student body of our school.

The hours we spent in class, the games we flocked to attend, the programs we presented, the mistakes we made, the honors we won, and the memories we created are all a part of the tales of our class.

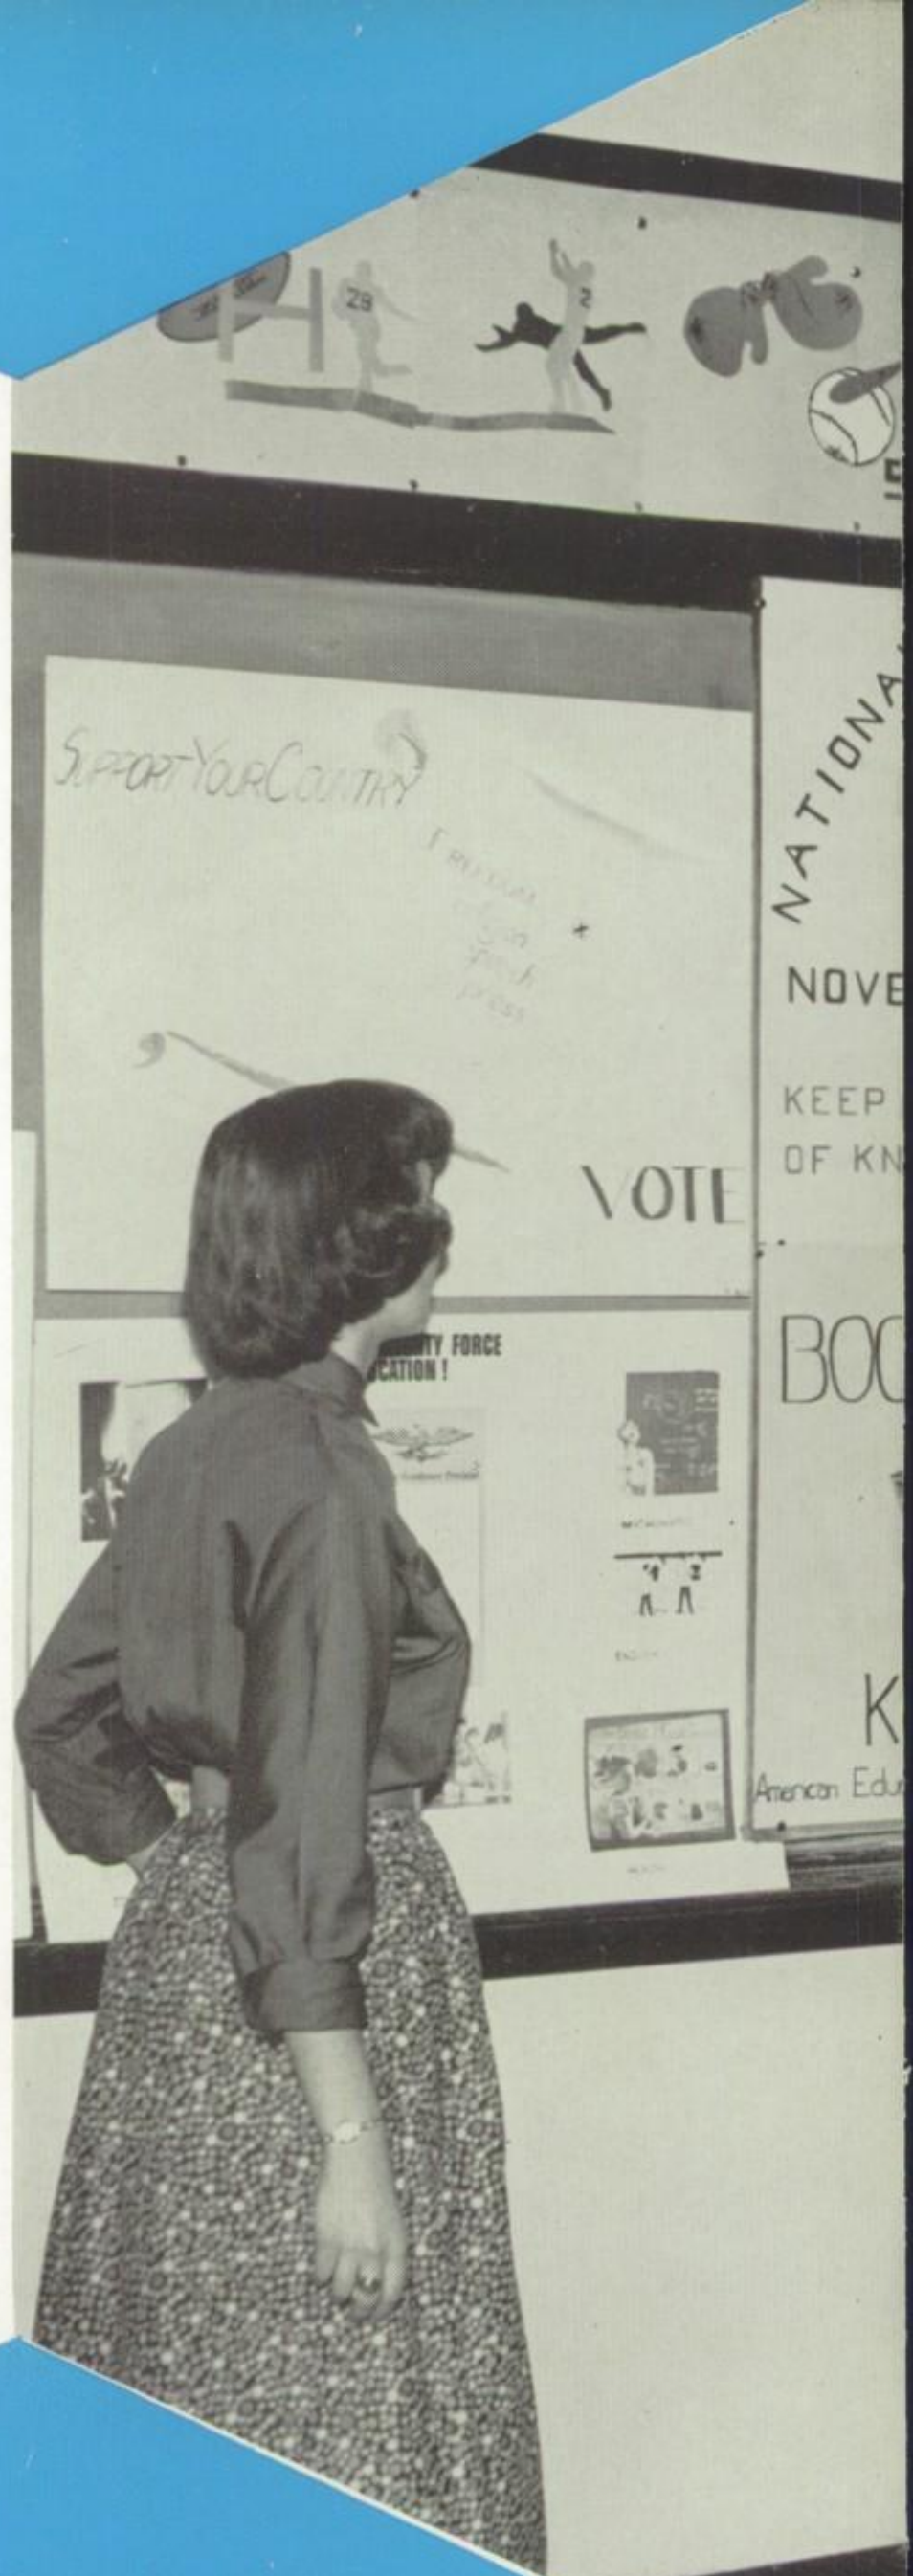

Although Somerset High School will continue to grow and to mold the lives of still unborn youth, it will never be quite the same as it was for us. On these pages we hope we have captured a little of what our school means to us so that it will remain here unchanged in an ever changing world.

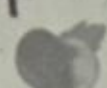

The Navy invades Somerset High.
This is the way front teeth get broken!

DR. GUY F. EBERHART
Supervising Principal

Mrs. Anna Glessner, financial secretary
Mrs. Lee Jarvis, secretary to Dr. Eberhart

We give our special thanks to the administration, who have watched and helped us through the years. In time of need we looked to them.

Dr. Eberhart, our supervising principal, has had a busy year with our new building program being launched, while Mr. Rininger, our high school principal, stood by to help us with personal as well as scholastic problems. Our elementary principal, Mr. Statler, kept busy looking over our wide-spread elementary schools. Dr. Maneval, Director of Instruction, Mr. Jones, Vocational Co-ordinator, and the office secretaries were always on hand to keep school activity running smoothly. With the long range view in mind, our school directors have continued to plan for improved schools while giving us their best leadership in the present.

We, the seniors of Somerset High School, complete our tale of the four happiest and most memorable years of our lives. As we look back on the beginnings of our high school careers, the thoughts of sports, assemblies, dances, classes, and fun leave a mark that will always mean deep-rooted memories. The auditorium booming with the roar of a pep meeting, strains from the orchestra drifting through the classrooms, the noise of the cleats of the football squad as they go to the practice field, the excitement that gripped the casts of the "The Form Divine" when the curtain opened — all these are memories now.

The years we spent as underclassmen seem no more than a mere moment as we look back on them, but at the time, we could think of no greater goal than being seniors.

At last our senior year arrived — the beginning of a new chapter in our lives. We remember the long drudgery of hitting our magazine sales goal, but we went over the top to establish a new record. Senior Rotarians were selected, and speeches were prepared by William Bowman, Donald Rininger, Thomas Fridy, Ernest Gelpi, Joseph Lehr, Donald Egolf, Ronald Brant, Donald Bungard, Richard Cugini, and Clark Schrock, who represented us at Rotary Club. Seniors on the football squad will remember their last game on the gridiron, when at the last gun their football careers ended at Somerset High. The basketball players will remember their last play-off games and the record they accumulated. The cross-country and track squads will reminisce over the strenuous and tiring workouts after school for the big meets that always paid off. The senior wrestlers will never forget the finals in the District V championships. No senior athlete will ever forget the tenseness before a game or meet, or the relaxation and noise in the locker rooms after an evening's workout.

But the end was slowly catching up with us. We began plans for our Commencement pageant. Then came the unforgettable practices in the evening. With the future much realer and nearer, we began to form plans. We began to realize the separation ahead as teachers, nurses, engineers, lawyers, doctors, servicemen, and many others. The seniors made their Prom dates and danced in the gym for the last time as students. Then the inevitable, as we marched down the aisle of the auditorium. The orchestra and chorus played and sang the last time for us. Now Baccalaureate was over, and we pressed our gowns for the finale — Commencement. The big night arrived, and with the breeze blowing through the pine boughs in the backdrop we took part in the last performance of the Class of 1955, when we stepped up and accepted our high school diplomas. As the last echos of the Alma Mater died, we were filled with an emotion never to be forgotten. Farewell.

Accept the challenge of those who have preceded them

As we are telling tales, we can certainly not overlook the seniors of '56. They are peppy, vivacious and full of ambition for the future. They gave us a delightful Junior Prom and their Soph-Senior, "The Chinese Gardens," will always be remembered as one of the loveliest dances ever given.

When talent was passed around, they certainly got their share. They are well represented in the band, orchestra, and chorus, as well as in all sports. A few of the juniors active in these activities are: Jimmy Halverson, who leads the sparkling S.J.H.S. band; cute majorettes, Pat Blank, Donna Layman, and Sally Trent; and on the gridiron Bob Stoy, Jay Maust, Bill Johnston, Jerry Koontz, Herb Spangler and Bill Smith, to mention a few. Whitey Meyers, Glenn Emert on the basketball floor and Art Koeppe on the mat also add to junior glory. Leading our boys on to victory are varsity cheerleaders Charlotte Waugaman, Judy Custer, and Susan Varner.

As we look to the humorous side of the class, we find Killer Brant, Earl Lucius, Gump Eicher, Barry Lichty and Spike Shoemaker, with his ever-ready jeep.

On the feminine side we find petite Peggy Walker, funloving Kay Barclay, sweet Shirley Lape, and Ann Cargill with her pleasing personality.

Adding to the class assets are the boys and girls who arrived this year from Friedens.

We sincerely hope that the class of '56 will have a prosperous, successful, and fun-loving year as seniors.

A class of ambition, enthusiasm, and talent.

Our sister class is most active and talented. Their Soph-Senior was real gone; in fact, it all took place in outer space.

The sophomores are well represented in the field of sports, with Joel Sharp, a star basketball player, and Bob Gusbar, outstanding in both football and basketball.

Some of the musically inclined are Marjory Wagner, Carol Conn, and Willie Hottle, who are doing quite well for themselves in band. Representing the class in front of the band is peppy majorette Kay Barchey.

Betsy Matthews has loads of artistic ability, which she has proved many times — once by receiving first prize for the Hallowe'en window-painting contest, and again for placing third in oil painting in the Western Pennsylvania Scholastic Art Exhibit.

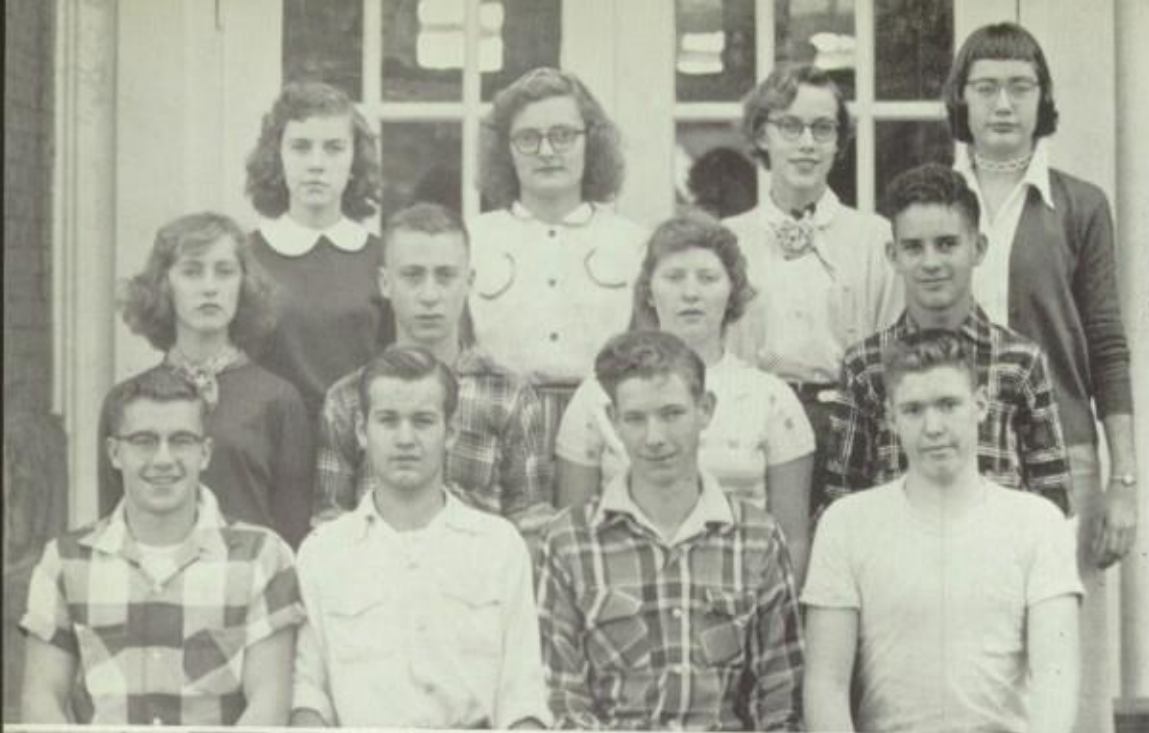

Then, as in every class, there are vivacious cheerleaders — in this case Penny MacMurdo and Connie Sipe.

Under the leadership of Larry Johnson, their president, the class of 1957 is sure to be one to remember.

Get their tickets to a merry-go-round of activities

Here is the class of 1958, full of activity, pep, and fun. They have a promising future, and before they know it, they will have taken over the spotlight at SJHS. Truly living it up at the traditional Freshman Hallowe'en Party, they proved that "Greenie" was only a nickname.

The leaders of the class are well chosen. Serving as president of the class is Alan Beech. Also honored as class leaders are Vice President Bob Gerhardt, Secretary Larry Hutzell, and Treasurer Jim McCall. These officers have done a good job in leading their class activities.

Other active members of the class are Gretchen Hart, Ann Younkin, Pat Walker, Mary Ann Messina, Don Thrasher, Hans Musser, Jerry Varner, and Ed Lohr. A compliment to the class is Alan Shaffer, who shows his talent at the piano by accompanying the Mixed Chorus.

The JV basketball team could have hardly gotten along without its prominent players, Dick Bowlby and Jim McCall. The team was cheered on to victory by the JV cheerleaders, including Georgia Ream and Bonita Braucher. This class showed confidence in their team and supported them faithfully.

Helping the class with their school activities were Mrs. Young, class sponsor, Miss Nichols, Miss Fike, Mr. Egolf, and Mr. Saylor, homeroom teachers.

Leads successfully by setting a good example

Through this past year the Student Council, under able leadership, was able to accomplish much in the way of beneficial activities for the school and were quite successful in their own projects. The council was very active doing small but important jobs all through the year. Several large projects were sponsored which required hard work and many extra hours to accomplish. They obtained a magician show, and with the help of the Key Club collected a large sum of money to be put into a fund for the benefit of an electric scoreboard for the football field. They provided a dance for the students, and the revision of the handbook took much time and thought.

The council had for its members this year many capable and responsible people. Some had had the experience of working on the council previously, and a few had the added advantage of attending outside conventions for the purpose of broadening their views and furthering their abilities.

Student Council teaches democracy, and demonstrates democracy in action, from which every member of the student body benefits.

Student Council officers Connie Sipe, Ann Cargill, Mary Ann Lease, and Barbie Stickel discuss their latest problem.

Keeps its fingers on the pulse of school life

"Won't you students ever learn to copy-read?" and "Check and double-check," are frequent comments by Mrs. Hay to her journalism class as they prepare to get the latest edition of the S.O.S. off to press. Given a class period for instruction and production, the staff rotated this year for the first time, giving each member an opportunity to learn about all phases of newspaper writing, editing, and advertising.

Melissa Luteri, Tait Stuart, Eleanor Pleskovic, Lois Countryman, Mary Ann Lease, and Earl Lucius were editors-in-chief. Sue Merrill gave the paper life with her humorous cartoons. James Collins contributed faithfully to our photographic work, and James Bussard and Earl Lucius never failed to have their pencils and pads on hand at all sporting events.

With a cooperative staff the paper finished a great year, showing marked improvement and obtaining membership in Quill and Scroll.

Miss Long explains the NHS shield to officers Lois Countryman, Ruthanne Beech, and Tait Stuart.

One of the rewards for development of character, application of scholarship, responsibility of leadership, and unselfish service to SJHS is membership in the National Honor Society.

Miss Long, assisted by Miss Snyder, sponsors local chapter 888, which is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary at Somerset this year.

This was the first time in a number of years that the Somerset chapter inducted a chapter from another school into the society. Boswell was inducted this winter, with Somerset's president, Tait Stuart, presiding.

Another activity of the society was the painting done on the front windows of the school at Christmas. Everyone worked hard under the direction of Judy Coleman and Ruthanne Beech, who designed and engineered the work.

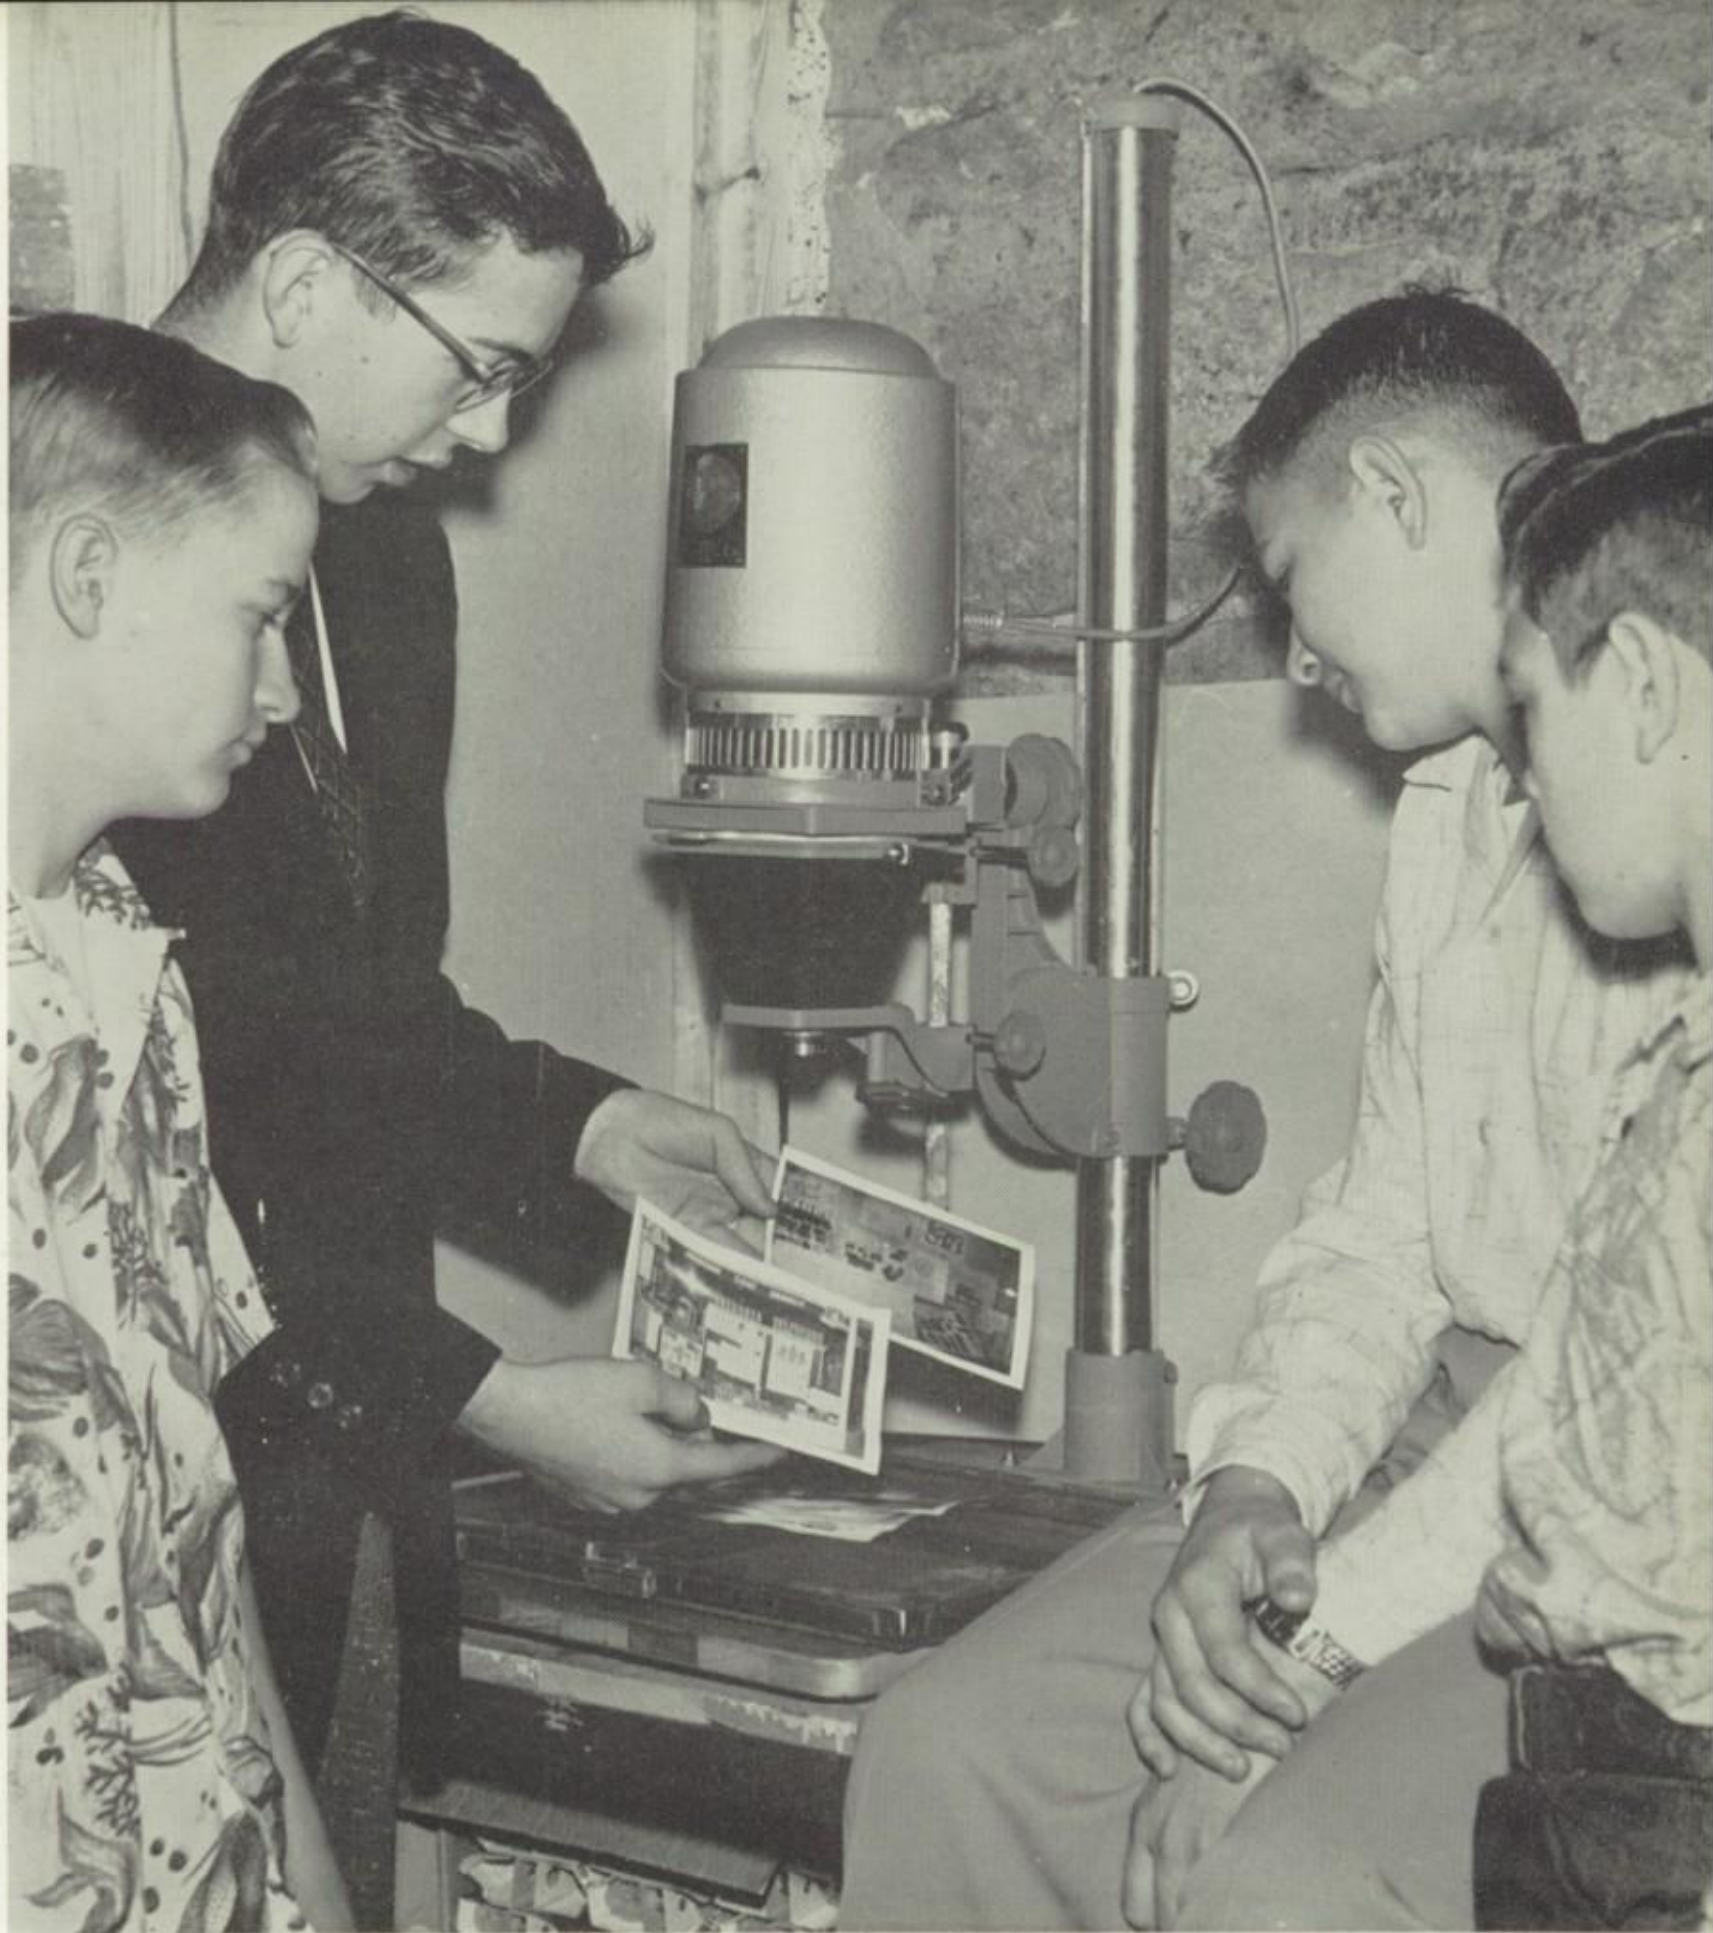

The feeling that you get with the arrival of the white envelope announcing your invitation to membership is indescribable. You wonder, "Is this really me?" After the initial joy and excitement have calmed, a sense of the enormity of your obligation is felt, which deepens with the impressive induction ceremony.

Members of the National Honor Society are expected to set good examples in all phases of school activity, and after graduation Honor Society members carry this realization of responsibility to others throughout their lives.

Allen Shaffer, Joan Darr, and Melissa Luteri share the work of accompanying the various choruses.

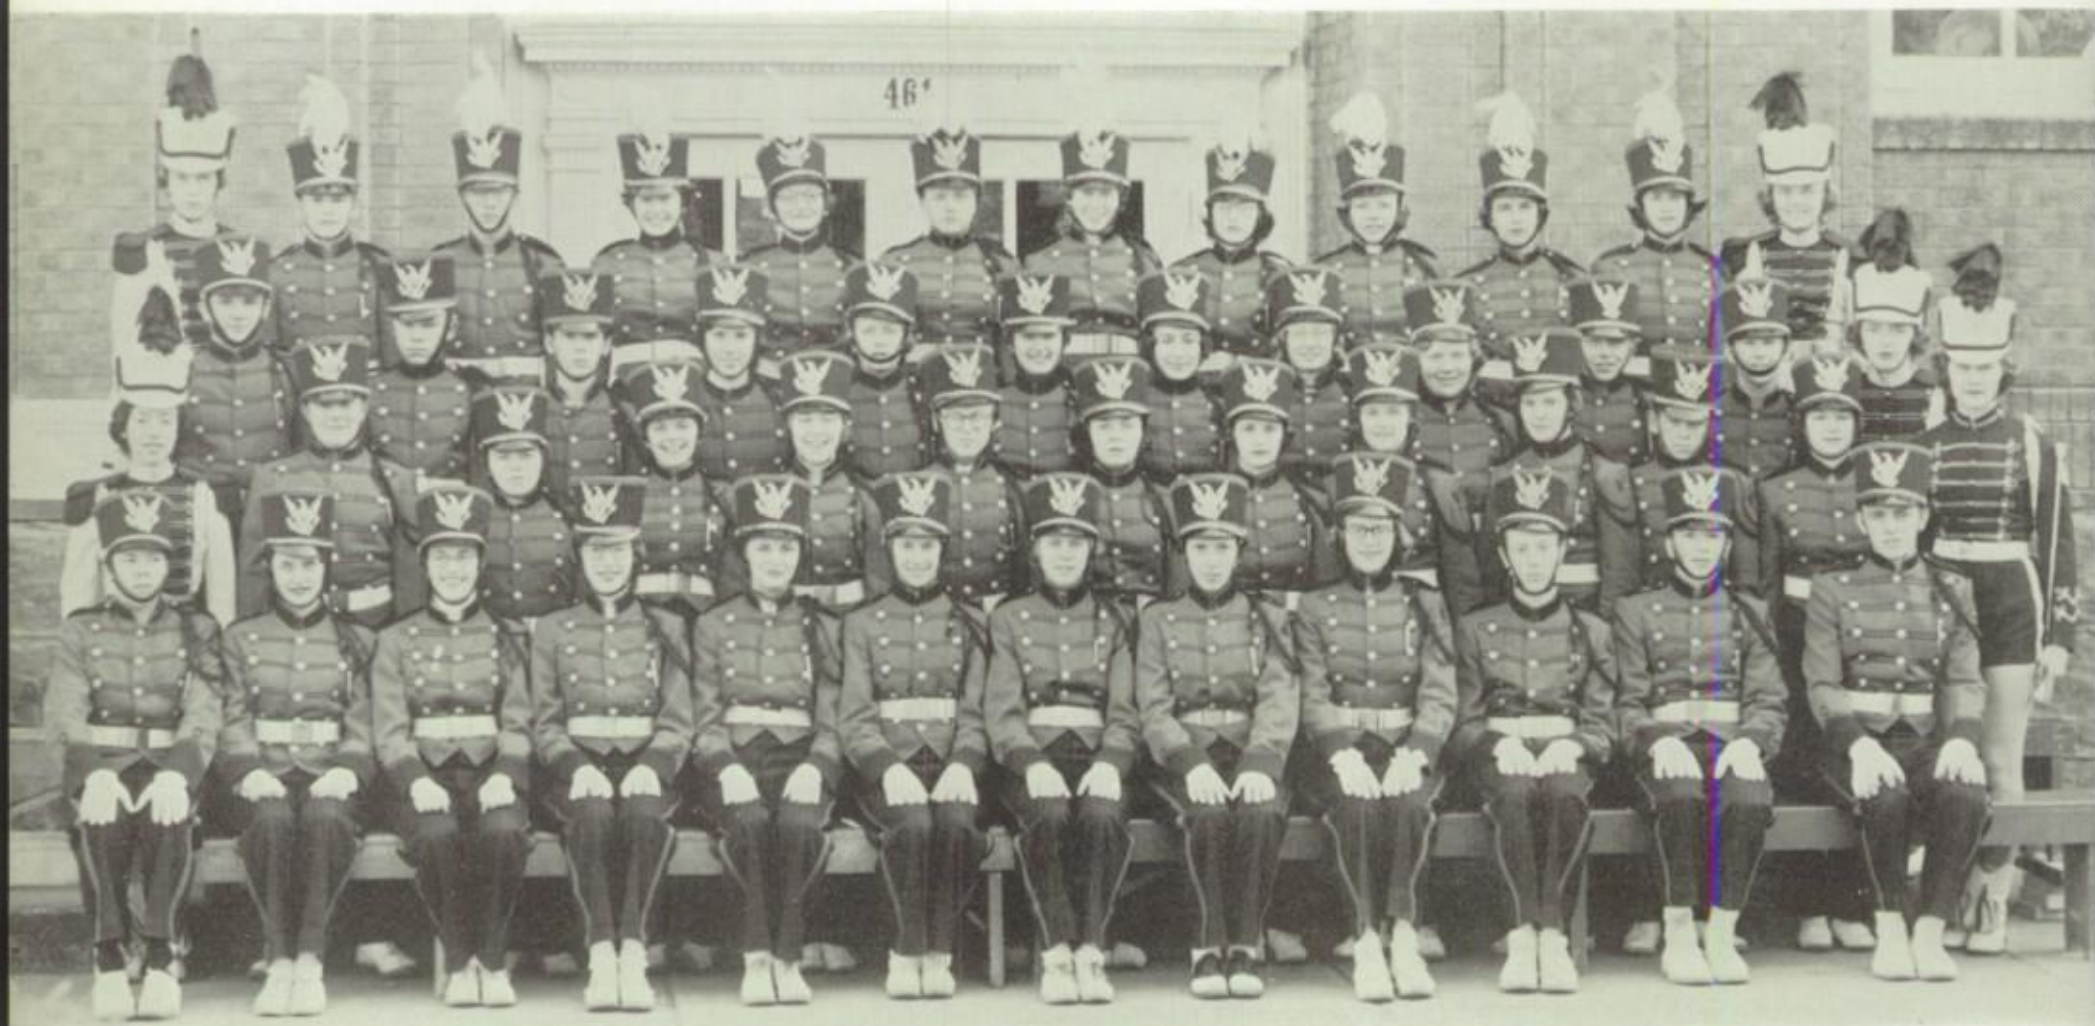

One of the favorite departments of SJHS is our vocal department, headed by Mr. Philip Holsinger. Composed of the Mixed Chorus, the Junior High Chorus, the Boys' Chorus, and the Girls' Ensemble, the SJHS vocal department gives approximately four concerts a year: a Christmas concert, a concert at Open House, a concert at County Chorus; and as the finale to a year of practice, these groups present the beautiful, formal Spring Concert.

The Mixed Chorus, composed of two hundred students, is the heart of the vocal department. Branching out from it are the Boys' Chorus, and the Girls' Ensemble, two smaller groups, membership in which is awarded by merit of talent and ability. The Junior High Chorus is a more recent development, the purpose of which is to lay a stronger foundation for the Mixed Chorus.

Under the direction of Mr. Chester Singer and Mr. Robert Griffith our instrumental department has completed another successful year of outstanding school music.

Our instrumental department is composed of the Senior Band, the Junior Band, the Orchestra, the Pep Band and the Dance Band.

During the past year the Senior Band has added more first prizes to its wonderful parade record, the Junior Band and Orchestra have given many fine performances, and the Pep Band has helped to spur out teams on to victory.

The lucky students who participated in county, district, and state music festivals will long remember the fun they had and the wonderful friends they made.

As we remember our school life, we shall always thank Mr. Singer and Mr. Griffith for our wonderful years of music.

"THE FORM DIVINE"

Every minute was "jost" wonderful!

As the audience will remember "The Form Divine" forever, so will the casts remember their rehearsals.

The usual run of things at a good rehearsal was something like this: First a snowball battle took place outside between Eckman, Barclay, Good, Barnette, Bowman, Davidson, and Eberhart. This was broken up either by the arrival of Mrs. Cindric in her familiar orange pedal-pushers or by Stuart's distinguished old car, which would come rolling in loaded with Spangler, Coleman, Whipple, and Walker.

Next we proceeded to the stage, only to be detained by Rosbaugh's six day old puppy. Then came the shrill orders of Mrs. Friedhofer, which reverberated through the halls, "Get movin'!" Always we were entertained by Jazzman Bowman and his two side-kicks, Schrock and Meyer, on the kettle drums. There must have been an attraction in Friedens, because Donner and Fridy persisted in sneaking off. Of course we'll all remember those love scenes between Rininger and Stickel. Refreshments were provided by Courtney, who specialized in home-made fudge. Wilma Derencin spent much of her time looking for Luteri and the two Jones girls who couldn't resist the temptation to go AWOL from the auditorium. When Merrill wasn't wracking her brain to remember her next line, she kept busy sneaking foreign matter into Egolf's black coffee. Runner and Shaulis wore themselves out puzzling over the braintwister that Sarver had brought along. Mrs. Cindric, in a state of crisis by this time and ready to commit mayhem, was usually given courage to go on by Beech, Deeter, and Zimmerman.

Although spiced by these minor details and difficulties, the rehearsal schedule was met, and two breathless casts went on in two performances which were acclaimed by all who saw them the best class play ever presented.

Mother will be sensational in the Charleston.

Those eight long weeks at the "Beautiful You" school were really worth it.

"I'm so proud of the spare tire I took off!"

"Do you know how beautiful a you you can be?"

THE EAGLET

Club periods were spent by the Eaglet Staff members in working on the 1955 yearbook. This year, however, the Eaglet Staff was especially pressed for time, because club periods were held only every other week.

In the fall of the year, Mr. Gradler and Mrs. Cindric could be seen hurrying busily here and there taking the necessary pictures that would appear in the Eaglet. Special days were set aside for picture taking when we all hoped for good weather.

During the fall and winter months the written material for the yearbook was assembled. As the pictures began returning from the engraver, the staff had fun writing captions and identifications for them.

In March the finishing touches were added to the copy, and it was sent off to the printers, while the staff members sat back and waited anxiously to see the results of their year's work.

During the same time, members of the business staff were working hard to finish the financing of the yearbook that had been given an excellent start by the record-breaking senior magazine sales.

In May the new 1955 Eaglet arrived at SJHS, and as the faculty and students eagerly turned the shiny new pages, they could appreciate the effort spent by the 1955 Eaglet Staff and their advisers, Mrs. Cindric and Miss Brant, in making this a book we shall long remember.

Some of these pictures are really priceless.

Surely these accounts will come out even this time.

The dummy shows promise of a great book.

Plunging, running, kicking . . .

Starting the season against a strong Adams eleven, the Eagles played an impressive contest, although beaten 14-0. This first game showed that the Eagles were destined for a good season. Next the Eagles journeyed to Bedford where they lost a heart-breaker, 18-14.

Turning the tide, however, the Eagles came back and whipped our arch-rival, Berlin, by a score of 20-6. Meyersdale was the next victim who fell to the mighty Eagles by a 35-0 score. Following the Meyersdale contest, the Eagles easily rolled over Richland Twp. by a score 41-6. Going to the next game as underdogs, the Golden Eagles showed their power and might by beating the Horsemen of Portage by a score of 27-14. Still hot on the gridiron, the Eagles played host to Boswell, another strong rival. It was the Eagles and the Bears fighting nip and tuck throughout the game; finally the Bears succumbed to the sharp claws of the Eagles by a score of 27-21.

Next came a jinx game for the Eagles—that of playing Westmont on Saturday afternoon. Still unable to break the jinx, the Eagles lost 19-6.

Somerset next played a new team, Conemaugh Boro. We gave them a fine welcome by beating them 19-6.

Traveling to Conemaugh Twp. to play their last game, the Eagles faced one of the strongest teams in Pennsylvania, the Conemaugh Twp. Indians. The Eagles played a very impressive game and were not out-fought, even though they were out-scored 41-7.

With a season record of six wins and four losses, the Eagles came through again for Somerset High.

Somerset's Golden Eagles, under the able guidance of Coach David Yule, brought the 1954-55 season to a climactic close with the capturing of the District Five laurels. Our boys played good ball all season, with just a few off-nights. The season's record stands at eleven wins and ten losses.

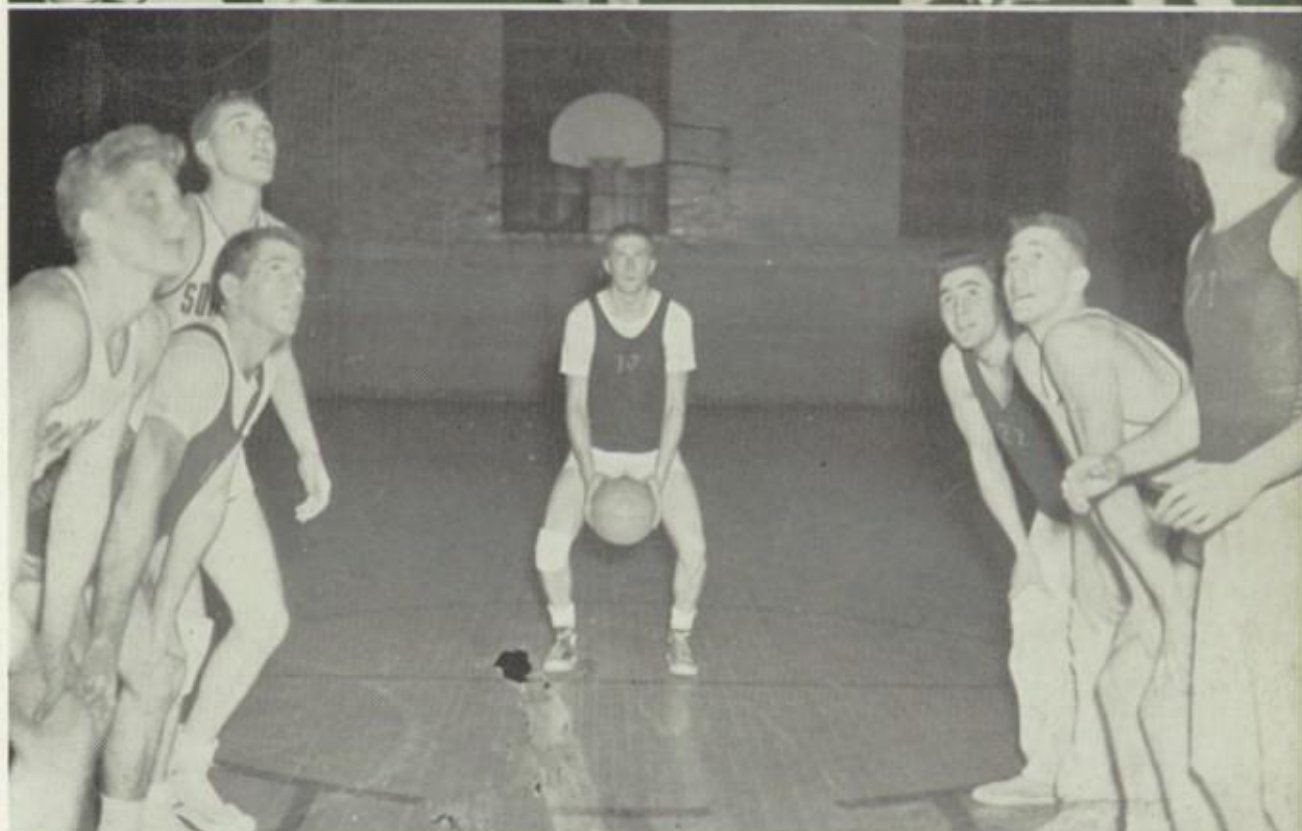

Bill Meyers, star Eagle center, racked up 285 points to lead the Yulemen in scoring honors. Not only was he a consistent high scorer, but Bill also was outstanding in the defensive side of the game. He was followed in scoring by Joel Sharp, who had a total of 239 points for the season. Don Shoff, a speedy guard, was an all-around player, both offensively and defensively. Emmett Barron, a senior sharpshooter, was a great asset to the Eagles. Tom Harmon and Dick Cugini, although not high in points, were in there every minute securing the ball and setting up plays for the other members of the team. Bob Gusbar saw a lot of action until a sprained ankle slackened his playing. Bob Stoy, ace guard, was an instigator of plays and a good team worker. Bill Smith, Jerry Hernley, and Bill Whipkey will all be here to help Coach Yule form another championship team next year.

As long as our team shows as much spirit and loyalty as they have this year, we shall continue to have basketball of the same caliber as in the past.

The thinclads of Somerset ended another successful season under the coaching of Coach Brown. This year's team produced many outstanding performers in the dashes, distance running, and field events.

In the duel and triangle meets the Eagles gave a good showing of what they could do. They were evenly matched with many teams in the District, and often came through winning in many events.

The Eagles showed their skill in the Coaches meet and the Jr. Pitt meet, by capturing first place in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and also placing in the field events.

Although the team lost the District 5 Championship this year, many boys came in first in their events.

The heart of this year's team was composed mostly of juniors and seniors. The seniors that the team will lose this year are Wilbur Derencin, Don Rininger, Jack Mosholder, Bill Bowman, Tom Fridy, Ernest Gelpi, Ron Whipperman, and Ron Brant, but there are many great athletes coming up from the underclasses which will give Somerset a bright track future in the coming years.

Long distance running requires endurance

What a way to tour the country.

Track coach Mr. William Brown introduced a new sport into the annals of athletics at Somerset Joint High when he organized the first high school Cross Country Team in District Five.

The team consists of five harriers running over a grueling two and one-eighth mile course which calls for a great deal of endurance and requires top physical conditioning.

Under the skilled coaching of Mr. Brown the iron lung men of S. J. H. S. made a fine record, which is highly commendable for their first season of long distance running. Distance running is becoming popular, and in a few years Somerset High should have a championship team.

Runners that received letters this year are Don Layman, Jim Halverson, Don Rininger, Joe Moldoon, John Meyer, and Paul Moldoon, who also entered state competition at Penn State University.

WRESTLING

Our fast-improving matmen

The Somerset Eagles wrestling team, under the leadership of Coach Joseph Maslak and co-captains Jim Suter and Art Koeppe wound up another successful season. The team got off to a slow start, losing four of the first five matches to such formidable opponents as Windber, Johnstown, Conemaugh Twp., and Latrobe. The wrestlers rebounded against Beall, but a very potent Bedford team set them back again. After the Bedford match the team picked up and won the last four matches on the schedule against Beall, Kiski, Boswell, and Everett.

The lone Eagle wrestler to go undefeated was Art Koeppe, who had little difficulty in winning ten straight matches. Jim Moon posted an impressive record in losing only four matches in his first year of varsity competition, while Herb Spangler won eight out of his ten matches. Also, senior Ray Faidley was awarded his fourth letter in high school wrestling.
